A girl six years old was picked up drunk in the street of a Connecticut town last week.

The internal revenue collections of New York for the six months, to July first, are $65,500,000 less than last year.

A foreign correspondent of the New York World is afraid Queen Victoria is a little too fond of her tod.

A man who was distributing refreshments at a Masonic festival at Meriden, Connecticut, recently, had the arteries of his right arm severed by the explosion of a soda bottle.

California papers say that San Francisco sends away forty tons of silver and six tons of gold every month, and that the State exports ten thousand tons of copper annually.

The New Orleans Picayune says a party of about one hundred citizens, representing some of the best families, is about leaving that city on a prospecting tour to Honduras and other ports of Central America.

The International Congress, for the regulation of gold and silver coinage, now in session in Paris, has fixed upon the gold five franc piece, and its multiples, as the basis for a uniform currency in Europe and America.

An artesian well in Odessa has been bored to the depth of four hundred and fifty feet, and it is thought about fifty more will be required. The object of the well is to obtain unusually clear water for the manufacture of a particular grade of paper.

Carl Meister, proprietor of a clock and watch repairing establishment, on Second street under Bersano's Hotel, St. Louis, while laboring under aberration of mind, flung himself from the bluffs at Natchez, Mississippi, but below Plum street, on Tuesday, and was drowned.

Venezuela, in South America, has given evidence of a spirit of enterprise. The Government of that country has entered into a contract with a company to connect that country with European lines, by means of a telegraph cable to Cuba. The Government is to pay $30,000 quarterly for thirty-three years, and have its dispatches sent free.

The yacht Vesta was sold last week at auction. She was knocked down at $18,000 to Mr. William Nott, it being generally understood that he acted for Mr. Lorillard. The Vesta is one year old, 201 tons burden, and 115 [illegible] she is said to have cost $40,000, and that sum to a builder in Europe certainly proved herself to be a staunch and fast vessel.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Wednesday says: Major Wash. Mason, of our city, is about to visit Jeff. Davis in his retirement at Montreal. Persons desirous of sending mementoes, tokens of friendship and other small packages, not exceeding three pounds in weight, can do so by leaving the same at the office of Smith & Winters, on or before August 1st.

In describing Tennessee station, on the Opelousas railroad, Colonel Dennett gives the following melancholy picture: "Negro troops were lying about in the shade, but they did not appear to benefit the sickly crops in the neighborhood. America is becoming Europeanized. Military rule is sapping the foundations of thrift and liberty. Poor crops, starvation, taxation, and a file of soldiers—that's where we are drifting."

According to the Europe, the 5,000,000f. which the Czar brought with him to Paris for the expenses of his visit were all spent, and he had to negotiate a small loan with a Greek banker before he could away. The Czarowitz alone got through 900,000f., just the sum which the ball at the Hotel de Ville is said to have cost. The King of Prussia was far more economical. He only gave the Prince Royal, the conqueror of Sadowa, 30,000f. pocket money for the whole period of his sojourn in Paris, and as to himself he spent "nothing." But then the Prussian budget is in a healthy state.

Whilst that high toned, and unblemished gentleman, John Williams, was speaking at Athens one day last week, the Knoxville Free Press says Judge Houk, who was present, called out in a distinct voice, "Rebel!" Williams stepping to the edge of the stand and pointing his finger at Houk, said, "Sir, I understood you to call me a rebel. I demand a retraction instantly!" Houk hesitating, Williams continued still more fiercely: "Sir, did I understand you say I am a rebel?" Houk seeing the fire in Williams' eye and knowing well the man, replied, "I do not say you are a rebel." The interruption, while it did not disconcert the speaker, excited the disgust of almost the entire audience.

The New York Citizen learns that Ben. Wood got hit with a red hot poker about ten days ago—a "draw poker," in fact—to the tune of forty-five thousand dollars, the winner being a prominent and respected member of the upper house of the Common Council. The interesting information is added, that "a hand of three aces against three queens" warmed the poker.

The Nashville Banner of Tuesday says The animus of the militia towards all who are opposed to Brownlow may be inferred from a remark of Captain Harris, who is now in town, to our reporter yesterday. He said: "I made a speech to my men at Paris to-day and told them to keep quiet when they went into the town, but if any body disturbed them not to stop until they had burnt the town and killed every rebel in it." And this is one of the ruffians who has been imported from the mountains of East Tennessee to enforce the laws among our people.

St. Louis, Potosi, papers contain the correspondence between Maximilian and Juarez. The first is a letter from Maximilian, dated May 25th, requesting that in case his counsel did not arrive in time, to be allowed the time necessary for his defense and to arrange his private affairs. To this Juarez promptly replied that the time should be allowed. The next from Maximilian is dated the 27th, asking that the Supreme Government issue an order allowing his counsel to leave the city of Mexico, which was under siege, and also desiring to speak personally with Juarez upon grave affairs and very important to the country. Juarez gave the orders for the exit from the city of the parties named, but as to the interview that could not be granted, considering the distance which separated them and the ends of justice. It was fitting, however, that Maximilian's private affairs should be attended to.

A dispatch from New Orleans states that on Thursday General Este left there for Washington, taking with him an important opinion from Judge Alexander Walker, endorsed by a college of eminent jurists in New Orleans, in which it is held that any issue of State bonds by acting Governor Flanders is illegal. The points of Judge Walker's opinion are that in the acts of Congress the existing State governments are recognized as provisional, and cannot, upon strict interpretation of the law, be annulled, except by special action of Congress; and therefore the issue of bonds by Governor Flanders is illegal, and cannot bind the people of Louisiana; and that, as a consequence, ex-Governor Wells is the only person invested with authority to issue State scrip. The opinion is submitted as a protest by the ex-Governor against the issue by Flanders of four millions of State bonds authorized by the Legislature, and to be used for levee repairs.

THE HOT SPRINGS OF ARKANSAS

An Interesting Letter.

The following letter from Governor Morton, of Indiana, will interest many:

HOT SPRINGS, June 17, 1867.

MY DEAR FRIEND: We arrived on the 2d of June, after a tedious and tiresome journey of nine days by rail, steamer and ambulance. The last sixty miles from Little Rock we traveled in an ambulance over the worst roads I ever saw, fording deep streams, through deep mire, and up and down precipitous rocks, where it would apparently be impossible for a wagon to go.

The Hot Springs are found in a narrow valley, between two low ranges of the Ozark Mountains, running nearly north and south. They issue from the mountain on the east side of the valley, about fifty feet above the base, and are nearly fifty in number. The water varies in temperature from 78° to 158°, and is carried by wooded troughs into the tops of small bath houses at the base of the mountain, situated on the bank of Hot Spring creek. The patient first enters the dressing room, where he is disrobed and prepared for the bath. He then goes back into another where he enters a large tub filled with water as hot as he can bear it. He remains in this five or six minutes and then goes back further into the vapor room. This is a small, close room, having for its floor an open wooden grating, beneath which is a reservoir of hot water. He sits down on a little bench, and finds by his side a tin bucket filled with hot water from the spring, and a tin cup. This water he drinks freely, so hot that it almost burns his mouth, and strange to say, it recovers that he likes it, and that it does not make him sick. And now, if his skin is not as impervious as parchment, he will perspire as he never did before. After remaining in the vapor a few minutes he goes back and again enters the hot water; stays in that a minute or two, is then rubbed off and dressed, goes to his room, gets between the blankets, drinks repeatedly of the hot water, perspires about thirty minutes, is then thoroughly rubbed, puts on dry flannels, dresses and goes to dinner with an appetite. The power of these baths to produce perspiration is extraordinary. I had no perspiration below the waist from the time of my first attack, but the second bath here brought it profusely on my limbs, and now I can perspire as well as any body.

The people here, and throughout this country, have faith, amounting almost to fanaticism, in the power of these waters to cure every chronic disease, except consumption and affections of the heart. And, from what I have already seen and heard, I believe they may very nearly be regarded as a specific for rheumatism and neuralgia. Persons are pointed out to me every day, walking up and down the valley, who were brought here a few weeks ago, or months ago helpless, and on beds or litters, who are now apparently well.

The weather in this secluded little valley is comparatively cool and pleasant, certainly much more so than Indianapolis, and we sleep every night under a blanket. We have no mosquitoes, gnats, and very few flies. The valley is so deep and narrow that the sun disappears behind the western crest by half past four in the afternoon, and leaves us in the cool shadow.

The water possesses some remarkable property which even chemistry has failed to discover. It is tasteless, but many people drink it hot with as much avidity as if it were ice water, and it is said that with the aid of pepper, salt and a little butter, it makes a very palatable soup. The country around is wild, mountainous, and very sparsely populated, the most of the settlers living by hunting.

Game is abundant, and we have venison on the table three times a day, and this is almost the only article of food that is not brought from the North by way of Little Rock.

There are about four hundred visitors, from every part of the United States and Mexico. They are of all styles, and represent every species of disease.

We hear very little politics discussed. That subject is, by common consent, ignored, and it is amusing to hear people talk all around it, apparently afraid to refer to anything even remotely political.

The mail comes but once a week—goes one Saturday and leaves the next, so that this letter will not start until next Saturday. News to you becomes news to me about ten days after.

These mountain valleys are very fertile, and capable of growing everything that is produced in Indiana; but our potatoes, flour, beef, butter, hominy, beans, etc., are all brought from the North.

These springs are the most remarkable in the world, and when roads are made and facilities for travel opened, this will be the greatest watering place and summer resort on the continent.

Very respectfully, your friend,

O. P. MORTON.

The citizens of Burnsville and the Chamber of Commerce of Selma, are taking measures together to make a road over the swampy tract at Blue Girt, which, they think, will bring several thousand bales of cotton to Selma that now comes direct to Mobile.

The Board of Mayor and Alderman of Tuscumbia have appointed Captain W. R. Julian, City Marshal, vice Mr. Huckaba resigned. A more popular and efficient officer cannot be found.

The Mobile Register calls attention to the fact, that a servant of General Bragg's that deserted him during the Mexican war and joined the Mexicans in fighting against the United States, is now one of the registers for Mobile county.

THE RADICAL STYLE OF REDEMPTIONERING.

Stoke's Brigands Attempt to Assassinate his Rival.

From the Chattanooga Union, 3rd inst.

Colonel Stokes has been proclaiming through the district, that Captain Flemming only wished to enter the canyons in order to assassinate Stokes.

The following statement of facts, which can be well authenticated, would indicate that the boot is on the other leg:

Captain Flemming left McMinnville on Friday morning, July 5th, for Shelbyville, and left orders with those over him to start the same day with his buggy over the mountains to meet him at Chattanooga. His servant, an intelligent colored man, did so, and after going some sixteen miles from McMinnville, was halted by five ruffians, who fired at the carriage and compelled him to stop. They asked him where he was going and he made an evasive answer. They then told him they knew who he was, that he was Captain Flemming's buggy, and they had seen him at Sparta. This is an indication that they were a party of Brownlow's militia who had been with Stokes at Sparta. After venting their wrath at not finding Captain Flemming, by cutting the top of his buggy with their knives, (they were all armed with navy revolvers and knives,) and robbing the colored man of his provisions and tobacco, they let him go and he returned to McMinnville. The next morning he started again before day, and arrived here yesterday. He brought with him a letter from Colonel W. J. Clift, stating the facts and that he would endeavor to ascertain the parties. The boy was unable to identify any of the parties. This is a fine specimen of Radical electioneering and is a good match for the Franklin affair. Captain Flemming will still continue the canvass, but he will take proper measures to protect himself against the paid assassins of Stokes and Brownlow.

How the Mexicans Received Santa Anna Before He Was Shot.

Correspondence of the New York Herald.

HAVANA, Thursday, June 27, 1867.

By the Spanish steamer Ciudad, which arrived on the 25th, we have received later news from Mexico. The intelligence concerning General Santa Anna is meagre, but it is positive that he has been taken from Siseal to Campeachy, where he was received by the people in a very riotous manner. The General was brought to Campeachy in a small armed launch, and during the trip exhibited the utmost cowardice, telling his own stories, giving an account of the reception he met with from the people of Yucatan, when he went there in 1825 as Commanding General, and his anticipations of that which was awaiting him now. From the moment he set his foot on shore, he was surrounded by a turbulent and excited multitude, mainly composed of the lower classes, and the cry of "Muera," who were shouting and asking for his life in the most violent manner, and it seemed as if the populace would succeed in seizing him to satisfy their thirst of blood. One of the ring leaders came so near that the General was compelled to defend himself with his fist, and gave him a severe kick with his wooden leg (a present to the man from Santa Anna). The better classes did not countenance this procedure, and after a whilesome of the Liberal officers succeeded in opening a passage to conduct him to the appointed prison, where he was placed in solitary confinement. It was feared, however, that the populace would raise a tumult and snatch the Santa Anna to their fury, as they did only two weeks ago Generals Espejo, Govantes, Avila and Ponce. Santa Anna's life hangs by a thread.

Some important documents were found on his person when arrested at Sisal.

DEMOCRATIC REORGANIZATION

Letter from General Robert Toombs.

The West and South, of Cincinnati, contains the following letter from General Robert Toombs, addressed to its editor, W. M. Corry, as Corresponding Secretary of the Democratic Central Committee:

WASHINGTON, GA., June 19.

MY DEAR SIR—Your letter of the 6th instant was duly received, and would have been before replied to but for my absence from home. Having but recently arrived in the United States, I knew nothing of your proposed organization—what it was for, or who were in it—when I wrote my reply to yours of the 9th ult. After the reception of yours of the 6th instant, with the proceedings of the Cincinnati Convention, I accept with the greatest pleasure the position to which I have been assigned, and will cheerfully give my utmost efforts to promote, establish and vitalize those principles. The first Kentucky resolution contains the principles of my whole political life. I have stood by them from my youth to this hour. I have maintained them in peace and war, with such poor ability as I possessed, and I am as ready to-day as I was thirty years ago, when I entered public life as a nullifier, "to spend and be spent" in the sacred cause; and if my sacrifices of all sorts had been a thousand times more than they have been, I should consider them well spent for a lost cause," rather than accept any other interpretation of the American Constitution.

I therefore accept any man as a brother, in peace or war, who will honestly stand by and defend them. I will be with him as long as the weakness of humanity will enable me to stand by the truth to my own hurt. Therefore, "sink or swim, survive or perish," I am with the West and South for the maintenance of the Cincinnati platform of April 12, 1866. I will take immediate measures to organize the State of Georgia on that basis, and will urge the true men of the (so-called) ten rebel States to "fall into line." You can fully count on them—I have tried them.

I will leave home to-morrow with a view of beginning the organization in Georgia, and enlarging your subscription, as the means of propagating true constitutional ideas; and I will endeavor to send you subscriptions from time to time, as the organization is enlarged.

I regret nothing in the past but the speed and the failure, and I am to-day ready to use the best means I can command to establish the principles for which I fought.

I am, respectfully and truly, your friend,

R. TOOMBS.

THE COMING FIGHT FOR THE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Aaron Jones' Condition.

The interest felt in the approaching mill for the championship between McCool, of St. Louis, late of Cincinnati, is general [illegible] well known. We doubt the following account of the doings of the latter, clipped from the Cincinnati Enquirer, of the 8th instant, will be read with avidity by many:

The interest of the "fancy" is becoming absorbed in the approaching contest between Aaron Jones and Michael McCool for the fistic championship of America. No similar event has occurred in this city since the [illegible] since the fight between Heenan and Morrissey, and as the fight is to come off on the 31st of August, within fifty miles of this city, we may expect an inpouring of all the professionals and a large crowd of amateurs for some days previous. Aaron Jones is now in active training, his quarters being the old Burlington House, six miles below the city, a pleasant and healthful locality upon the river bank, which, since our remembrance, has made rapid encroachment upon this once favorite place of sport. Two weeks' hard work have reduced him some thirty pounds, and he contemplates to bring himself down yet another ten pounds. Before he went into training he weighed two hundred and seventeen pounds, so that when he meets McCool his fighting trim will be one hundred and seventy-three pounds, a good heavy weight, and although considerably inferior to his antagonist, still equal to most of the "big 'uns" that have figured in the P. R.

He stands to his work well, and the training thus far tells to advantage in the symmetrical proportion of body, the hard firm flesh and muscles, clear, pinky complexion and bright, unclouded eye. He eats and drinks sparingly, and his food is of the healthiest character, the animal portion of it consisting principally of "beef steak, rare." Eight weeks' more training, and we should say that his condition will be equal to the time when he fought the redoubtable Tom Sayers three hours and made a drawn battle of it.

McCool is taking his "breathing" in the vicinity of St. Louis. He is a younger and bigger man than Aaron, but it is the belief of the knowing ones that the experience and science of the latter will more than counterbalance these advantages.

SENATOR WILSON VS. CONFISCATION.

His Impressions of the South.

General Grant for President.

"Mack," of the Cincinnati Commercial, in a letter from Washington, dated July 5th, speaks thus about the effect of Senator Wilson's visit to the South:

Mr. Wilson comes back fully convinced, so he tells me in conversation, that confiscation would be a ruinous policy for both sections of the country; and that those who are preaching that doctrine to the negroes of the South now are doing incalculable mischief to the country and to the Republican party. He says if the negroes want land they must work for it; that it is easier for a negro in the South, at the present time, to earn five acres of land than for a white man in Massachusetts to earn one; that land is cheap, and work is plenty, and a man who, under the circumstances, is not able to earn a farm is not fit to own one. He himself, at the age of twenty-one, worked on a farm for six dollars a month, when six dollars wouldn't buy as much land in Massachusetts as one dollar will now buy in the South. He believes the Southern people are disposed to treat the negroes well, and will educate them, and pay them, and enable them to take care of themselves. This much, coming from a man who has done more than any other man—at any rate quite as much—to shape the policy of the Republican party since its organization, and to whose practical common sense, as opposed to Sumner's political Quixotism, the party owes much of its success, is quite significant. On the Presidential question, Mr. Wilson speaks warmly in favor of General Grant, and regards his nomination as almost certain. Should the General receive the nomination, the Vice President will, of course, be selected from the Eastern States, and in that event it will be difficult to find a man better suited for the position than Mr. Wilson. His friends will urge him sharply in the national convention, though I believe he has not yet been consulted on the subject, and certainly has not intimated that he desires the nomination. However, men generally deserve nominations inversely to the extent to which they desire them.

Be it ordained by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen of the city of Memphis:

SECTION 1. That from and after the passage of this ordinance, it shall be unlawful for the owners of dogs, hogs, goats or stock of any kind, (except milch cows) to allow them to run at large throughout the city.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of Mayor and Aldermen shall elect a pound keeper every year, or as often as may be necessary, whose duty it shall be to establish a pound within the corporate limits of the city, in which he may impound all such found running at large throughout the city.

SEC. 3. Said pound keeper may charge not exceeding fifty cents a head per day for dogs, goats and hogs, and not exceeding one dollar per day for cows, mules and horses, and shall feed and take proper care of all animals in said pound.

SEC. 4. It shall be the duty of the pound keeper to keep a book in which he shall describe each kind of each animal taken up and enclosed in said pound, the precise time of the day and date when taken up and when sold, and the description of each kind of all animals in said pound, and the time they were taken out, which book shall at all times be open to the public twelve hours. Said book shall at all times be open for the inspection of the Mayor and any member of the Board of Aldermen and Police Commissioners.

SEC. 5. Whenever the owner of any animal in said pound may, on proving his or her property and paying the charges, take them away, and the pound keeper shall take the name and residence of the person taking such stock if any kind is desired, the description of the animal or animals, the time they were taken out, and the amount of money he may have received for keeping said animal or animals so taken.

SEC. 6. It shall be the duty of the City Surveyor to destroy all dogs not reclaimed in five days after having been impounded in said pound, and all other animals not reclaimed in ten days may be sold for the benefit of the city.

SEC. 7. Any person who shall turn into pounds in excess of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of his duties.

SEC. 8. All ordinances or parts of ordinances coming in conflict with any of the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Approved June 4, 1867.

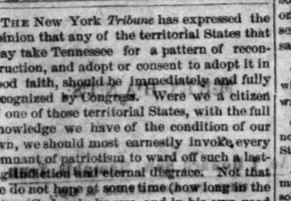
ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR RECORDER—We are authorized to announce Hon. JOHN W. SMITH as a candidate for re-election as Senator from Shelby and Fayette counties.

FOR CONGRESS—We are authorized to announce Hon. JOHN W. LEFTWICH as a candidate for re-election to Congress.



SATURDAY, JULY 13, 1867

THE New York Tribune has expressed the opinion that any of the territorial States that may take Tennessee for a pattern of reconstruction, and adopt or consent to adopt it in good faith, should be immediately and fully recognized by Congress. Were we a citizen of one of those territorial States, with the full knowledge we have of the condition of our own, we should most earnestly invoke every remnant of patriotism to ward off such a lasting imputation and eternal disgrace. Not that we do not hope at some time (how long in the future God only knows, and in his own good time will determine), to shake off the incubus which at present weighs upon us so heavily. But far better to remain in their unnatural position, with the clink of sabers and spears warning the approach or near presence of their military rulers, than to accept of any such ignominious terms. Perhaps another BROWNLOW might not be found, but it is difficult to imagine to what depths of degradation and meanness, the lust of power may urge men, whose virtue is not impregnable, and whose selfishness is not the slave of their patriotism. We should prefer to remain a lifetime in territorial helplessness, without a representative in Congress, than to entail an eternal heritage of misery and disgrace upon those who are tocome after us. Take not, therefore, Tennessee for an example. But why offer advice on the subject? Congress has avowed its plan, and foreshadowed its intentions. It will lay down the law in the face and teeth of law. The scheme it has devised, intended to blot from political existence the brightest minds and highest intelligences of the South, while the political power is sought to be engrafted upon a mass of ignorance incapable of understanding and appreciating the operations of enlightened and proper government, it will carry through, in the vain hope that the tyranny of the present oligarchy will be perpetuated through the instruments it brings to the surface, incapable though they be of understandingly exercising the rights with which they will be invested. The proposition is harmless in itself, as it will not be entertained by Congress, which, doubtless, thinks it has a surer thing of it, and will not consent to multiply such dubiety as hangs over Tennessee, even at the present time. It will be treated with scorn and derision by the Territorial States, which cannot consent to their own degradation and shame, even if but a spark of patriotism survive. Let the authors of the outrage contemplated be the artificers of their own work, and do not carry the hod and mortar to aid them in completing their ungainly and disproportioned structure. Let them go down to eternal infamy, as having wrought the destruction of the fairest edifice ever reared by mortal hands, and built upon its ruins a bastile at which humanity shudders. The Missouri Democrat, one of the most truculent and reckless political papers published, intimates—nay, boldly declares—that if the terms offered by Congress are not complied with, there is worse, and more of it, in contemplation, or, in its own language, "a refusal to comply with these terms, will inevitably bring upon the South such other measures as will secure the desired regeneration." Is it not perceptible even to the most sluggish intellect, that so long as the impracticable rascals who hold the Congressional reins are permitted to retain the places which they so much abuse and disgrace, the South has nothing to expect from the enmity or justice. Like nearly all tyrants, they are cowards and bullies, and keep no faith in their pledges—more especially with those who they feign to believe have so deeply wronged those injured saints! Accept nothing at their hands. To endure belongs to manhood, and not even the despotism of BEELZEBUB STEVENS, with his hungry pack of camp followers, can wrest that virtue from its possessor. They must have nearly exhausted their ingenuity in devising their schemes to which they are constantly applying additional stays and braces, or if they have not, tax it to the last, and let them do their worst. The harder the blow the heavier will be the recoil.

THE fine effect which the organization of Conservatives in the First Ward has had upon the voters of that end of Memphis calls for similar organizations immediately in all of the wards of the city. We are pained to confess an inactivity upon the part of those officially charged with the organization of the party and the conduct of the canvass not auspicious for a thorough and vigorous campaign. Not quite three weeks will pass before the election is upon us, and what has been done to arouse the people of Memphis to a proper effort to save their fireside against imminent desolation and permanent shame? In but one ward is there a Conservative organization, and that the noble First—ever vigilant and ever true. Can an election be carried by such indifference in the face of a thoroughly organized band of depraved whites and ignorant negroes, thoroughly armed, who mistake the possession of a mere shooting iron for the quality of a manly courage, which may betray them into scenes which they do not appreciate, and which they had better not excite. In the interest of those deluded people, we advise them to hold well their tempers and restrain the bad impulses which the counsel of the white Radicals is directed to excite in them. To our Conservative friends in every ward, we say organize. Do not wait for any committee to organize you. Organize yourselves. Do as the noble first has done. Let speakers be heard every night in every ward. Let the watchfires be kept burning. Organization is all that is needed to insure victory. If we fail for want of it, to our shames be it written.

THE New Orleans Republican aspires to the eminence of being the lowest and most despicable sheet of its political kind that exists. To attain that culmination requires some exercise of mean instincts and some display of depraved talent; for if there is a paper of integrity and truth representing the Radical revolutionary organization, we have yet to see it, and we believe all of them come daily under our observation. The paper referred to, however, surpasses its contestants for disgraceful fame and mendacious excellence to a degree corresponding with its corrupt ambition for a mean and low notoriety. It draws, in its issue of Wednesday, a comparison between the butcher ESCOBEDO and our Confederate leader, FORREST. The former it exalts to the skies, and the latter it impotently endeavors to depreciate and defame. The necessity for making this comparison is not sensible, and can only be attributed to low malice and depraved taste. The writer's own degradation is self-confessed, when he says that he would welcome the legs of ESCOBEDO under his mahogany, whilst he would exult over the execution of FORREST. The mahogany in the household of such a creature could scarcely aspire to the respectability of a scaffold.

THE campaign has just opened, for Shelby county, and Conservatives must be up and doing. The enemies of justice and right are putting forth all their strength for BROWNLOW despotism. Native born mean men, who hold property in our midst, and from the rents of which they are reaping large profits, are standing aloof from assistance to the success of Mr. ETHERIDGE and the names on his ticket. Let all who are not swayed by contemptible, low and dastard motives, rally to organization and work. We mean by this, all men who hate Radicalism, and whose possession of property will not allow them to lose the respect of their fellow-citizens. The men who hold principle equal with life are the only hope for the redemption of our State, and to those we appeal. Rouse up, true Conservatives, and meet the emergency upon you.

OUR neighbor of the Bulletin is mistaken in supposing that the information with reference to the proposed impeachment of the President transpired in the Senate. The report referred to was made by Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, Chairman of the Committee on the Judiciary, in the House of Representatives, and not by Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, a member of the Senate.

The horse that the Emperor of Austria rode when he was crowned King of Hungary was shod with gold.

Charles E. Vandreau was nominated for Governor by the Minnesota Democratic Convention at St. Paul Tuesday.

A dispatch from Fort Wallace says the Indians made another attack and were repulsed. Thirteen soldiers were killed.

Greeley, after advocating it for twenty-five years, voted against female suffrage in the New York Convention.

In the United States Court at Wheeling, Tuesday, Judge Jackson refused to grant an injunction against the dentists of the city, in favor of the Dental Vulcanite Company of Boston.

Mr. Nye, of Nevada, declared himself in the Senate Tuesday, in favor of more stringent terms of reconstruction, and said there would be no peace in the land until every rebel was either dead or disfranchised.

The statement published that the steamer Susquehanna had sailed for Mexico with dispatches to Juarez from this Government, demanding the release of Santa Anna, is entirely unfounded.

The Yallowbusha, Panola, Tallahatchie and Carroll county, Mississippi, papers all speak of the corn and cotton crop as looking well. Corn will be so plenty, that already farmers are trying to sell their crops at seventy-five cents per bushel.

AN INTELLIGENT SUGGESTION.

The Necessity of Organization.

An Argumentum ad Hominum.

"Watchman of the night," what are the signs of promise? The August election is near at hand. Are you ready for the conflict? Will you act in concert? Are you going to act at all? Have you given up all? Do you surrender all your claims to liberty, to free speech and to manhood without a struggle? If not, I have a word for you. It is your right to use every honorable means you can command to secure the election of the whole Conservative ticket. There is to-day positively no consent of action among those most interested. Are you, intelligent white men, who are to-day ready to fight for your country, if necessary, and who surrendered in good faith to the flag of our fathers—are you, I say, going to let this election go against you by default? Will you act, or will you quietly remain at home and see your own servants go to the polls and ignorantly perpetuate your disfranchisement? This is the question for you to answer. If you do this, then, indeed, will your inferiors have a carte blanche to rule over you. In the name of God, let us do something.

Ex-rebels have it in their power to promote their own salvation. You can aid your friends, the Conservatives, by legitimate and telling means. It is you to whom the negro now looks for the means of support. If he votes for the Radical, he votes to perpetuate your disfranchisement. Have you fully, fairly, and truthfully explained to him the company he is in—that he is now a mere tool for low act of scoundrels, who are neither able to help him honestly nor fit for the society of gentlemen.

Now, gentlemen, to talk the thing right out, I propose to spot every colored voter who votes to perpetuate the disfranchisement of my brothers and ex-rebels who are to-day friends of our Government. I want consent of action. Be calm; be prudent; don't let your indignation overcome you, but act decidedly and without concealment. Let the negro know what he is doing, and tell him candidly, as I will the fifteen voters I am this year backing, "I will back you no more if you vote against the restoration of my rights. This is your bounden duty; if you fail to act, don't blame me, I will do my part; so help me God."

A UNION MAN,
GRAND JUNCTION, TENN.

MEXICO.

Juarez and His Cabinet Gone to the Capital.

Departure of Bearers of Dispatches.

NEW ORLEANS, July 11.

An official report transmitted to the Mexican Consul here states that President Juarez and his cabinet left San Luis Potosi on the 1st inst. for the capital, where he would be received with great pomp and eclat as the deliverer of his country and the defender of republican principles in Mexico.

The Wilderness left yesterday, having on board Madame Juarez, Senor Romero, brother of the Mexican Minister, and bearer of important dispatches to Juarez. Senor Fantacilo, son-in-law of the President, and others.

Mr. Robinson, of the New Orleans Republican, and Emile Laverne, an ex-Confederate, at one time an agent of the Maximeehle and Tehuantepec railroad grant notoriety, were the bearers of United States dispatches, so often and so mysteriously alluded to. Laverne, it is understood, is still in the interest of the railroad schemes, and represents Marshall O. Roberts, of New York, in securing that which Santa Anna failed to secure for want of power to fulfil obligation.

MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

LITTLE ROCK.

Special Dispatch to the Memphis Avalanche.]

LITTLE ROCK, July 12.

The Little Rock Gazette of to-day says: Careful estimates of the members of the Board of Registration of Pulaski county, based on the actual expenditures, show that the total cost of registration in Arkansas alone will be one million dollars. The lowest estimate made is eight hundred and ninety thousand dollars. There are fifty-seven counties in the State. Many Southern States have a much greater number. Taking the above as a basis, the total cost of registration in the ten States will be fifteen millions, and election expenses five millions more.

Fortieth Congress—Extra Session.

WASHINGTON, July 12.

HOUSE.

A resolution was adopted directing the Special Committee on Southern Railroads, confining their operations to Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Louisiana, to report a bill declaring forfeited to the United States all lands granted by Congress in 1856 to the foregoing States for railway purposes, which grants have expired by limitation.

Mr. Stevens, from the Committee on Reconstruction, reported back Senate reconstruction bill with several amendments, mostly verbal, as a substitute for the first section, declaring the true intent and meaning of the act of March 2d, 1867, to have been that the governments then existing in rebel States were illegal, therefore, such governments, if continued, were to be subject, in all respects, to their military commanders and authority of Congress.

Among sections reported was one directing that none of the officers of registration shall pay any regard to the decisions or orders of any person or officers of the Government, except as directed by Congress.

The bill was debated till half-past three, when Mr. Stevens moved the previous question, calling for a vote on various amendments.

The amendment substituting the first section of the House bill for that of the Senate was then adopted.

The amendment referring to Attorney General's decision was modified so as to read: No district commander or office of any board of registration shall be bound in action by any opinion of any civil officer of the United States. Agreed to.

All other amendments agreed to, and the bill, as amended, goes back to the Senate.

House adjourned.

SENATE.

A lengthy discussion occurred on Mexican affairs, some Radicals making blood and thunder speeches, approving the execution of Maximilian, and defying the world against the powers of the United States Government. Conservatives, however eulogized Maximilian as a brave and generous man, and denounced his execution as an act of barbarity unequaled in the annals of civilization. Wilson offered a bill authorizing the Secretary of War to raise four regiments of volunteers for frontier purposes, and appropriating $1,648,000 to pay troops already called out for that purpose.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 12.

A collision occurred yesterday on the Chicago and St. Louis railroad, between the express and passenger trains. One Brakesman was instantly killed, and baggage master fatally injured. The Buntyn

HOMESTEAD LANDS FOR SALE.

WE SHALL on the premises, on the south side of the city, commencing at the Memphis and Charleston railroad depot, on Wednesday, July 17, 1867, and continuing from day to day following, at 10 o'clock a. m., the valuable lands, in two parcels, known as the Homestead Tract of the late Gen. Gideon Pillow, Esq., situated on the Hernando road, and the Buntyn tract, adjoining the same, and lying on the Memphis and Charleston railroad. Five miles east of the city. The improvements, which consist of a large two-story brick house, recently occupied by Hiram F. Hill, Esq., who now resides upon the premises. The balance of the tract, consisting of about 400 acres, has been laid off in lots of from two to ten acres each, with streets and alleys of liberal width, and will be sold in such manner as to secure the greatest amount of competition. The lands of the Memphis and Charleston railroad afford the opportunity for going in and out of the city, from and to Raleigh's Springs, in a few minutes. Any one wishing a residence at this point almost as convenient as to live in the city itself.

The conveyance will be made in fee simple, with a warranty title.

The terms will be made very liberal and easy, and the prices low to induce purchasers of large or small lots.

Plans of the subdivisions will be shown at our office.

A NOBLE INSTITUTION OF LEARNING.—The State of Virginia is honored in having one of the best institutions of learning in the United States, and that is one of the oldest and most distinguished. Amodeus—the University of Virginia. Its announcement appears in another column. It is not necessary to say that its course of study is liberal and thorough, and its professors men who stand in the front rank of educators. It seems to have entered on a new career of glorious usefulness and to have received the promise of better days.

CRIMINAL COURT.—Yesterday, in the case of D. R. Grace, the testimony closed and the case was submitted to the jury without argument. The jury was ordered to report in an hour, which was done, no verdict being however rendered. They were sent back with orders to report at eight o'clock p.m., unless an agreement could be had before that hour. An acquittal is generally expected, as the evidence proved a clear case of self defense.

Several other cases will be heard to-day. The cases specially set on the calendar go over to another day.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—Court stands adjourned to Monday next, which will be motion day. The jury will be discharged until Monday. Yesterday, a case of magistracy is called to the following section of the law creating the Municipal Court relating to the law creating the Municipal Court relating to the duty of this magistrate appeals: "In case said appeal is taken to the Municipal Court, it shall be the duty of the magistrate before whom the case was tried, to forward the papers in the case to the Clerk of the Municipal Court of Memphis without delay, and he shall require an appeal bond, as now required in appeals to the Law Court of Memphis."

RIOTOUS MOVEMENTS LAST NIGHT.

Nobody Killed—Nobody to Blame.

The excellent but lively young gentlemen who hang out in and about Washington street, had a little "scrimmage" last evening.

Fayette Welsh, Hugh Clark and Mike Waters are so called aides of the Varieties. They all imbibe a little liquor for the stomach's sake.

On the 4th of July Welsh and Waters had a fight. Somehow this originated the little affair of last evening. One statement is that Welsh and Waters had a quarrel, and Clark took Waters part. However this may be, Welsh got shot in the left side of the abdomen, and Clark got shot in the hip. Welsh had no pistol, but picked up a brick wherewith to fight. Clark was insulting with a policeman and pointing up his pistol, when it accidentally went off and shot him in the hip.

It is not supposed that the wounds of either party are necessarily mortal.

FUNERALS.

The jury in the case of Ex-Alderman Grace could not agree up to a late hour last night.

It is reported that the leading editor of the Radical organ has been retained out.

A revival is going on in the Chelsea Baptist Church.

The Reverend Doctor Wheat has arrived in the city to take charge of the Church of St. Lazarus, and will officiate on Sunday morning.

Nobody knows whether the legal controversy which originated in Squire Hall's court has yet been settled. We hope it has been.

One of the leading colored Radicals in Memphis formerly sold his brother. Nothing but Brownlowism satisfies him now.

John Ogden, Esq., who is widely and favorably known as an educator, has come out as an independent candidate for superintendent of common schools.

The junior base ball clubs have it in contemplation to hold a convention of junior base ball clubs in this city, but no definite arrangements have yet been made.

James Farrell, who lives somewhere about Whisky Chute, was robbed and badly beaten on Thursday night. A companion named Scott Filson is charged with having victimized him.

Neil Lambert, a colored man, was arrested yesterday for stabbing John Quinn, the keeper of an eating house, who wanted him to pay for what he had eaten.

A colored woman, named Betsy Marshall, is charged with stealing $100 worth of clothing from Mr. Miller, corner of Vance and Causey streets.

The house of Christian Beck, on Auction street, was entered by burglars on Thursday night, and $150 worth of household goods stolen.

Officer Wambold has been arrested on a bench warrant, issued by Squire Hunter, and will be held to answer for the murder of John Hughes.

The men implicated in the shooting and robbing of the colored man, William Fields, have been all arrested.

Alderman Townsend protests against Alderman Bolling being allowed to represent the Fourth Ward, while he is temporarily a non-resident.

The investigation of the case of Lottie Sherwood, charged with murder, is continued, and she is at large.

Nat Coleman is charged with stealing a horse and wagon that had been temporarily left in front of his place on Gayoso street yesterday.

James Smith is accused of embezzling to the amount of $300 from Messrs. Ward & Co., on Main street.

A District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church met in Hernando yesterday. Bishop Paine presided.

A man named Henry Marks is under arrest for stealing sixty-two dollars and a suit of clothes from Mr. Shaw.

A negro named Mat. Foster was yesterday swindled out of forty-five dollars by two unknown white men.

A man named Pat. Colyer was arrested yesterday for stealing a mule from Mr. Cafferty, on South street, and selling it for forty dollars.

Jane Marsh is under arrest for stealing a pair of ladies' cow hides, worth one hundred dollars, from Mrs. Mc. Johnson, of Monroe street.

Mayor Lofland is to distribute $500 worth of provisions among the poor during the next two months.

The official proceedings of the Turf Congress have been received by Gen. Forrest, and there will be a meeting of the directors of the Memphis Association, at the office of the Planters' Insurance Company, over the Commercial Bank, at four o'clock this afternoon.

Two officers had, yesterday, a very lively chase after Tobe Porter, a mackerel, who is charged with numerous offenses. After following him through half a dozen streets, and on a steamboat, they effected his capture.

John Sampson is charged with stealing a horse belonging to Mr. Murphy, on Second street. Officers Morrison and McCune caught him fifty miles from the city, although he started five hours before them.

A gentleman remarked yesterday, "that article in the AVALANCHE on cholera was as good to me as a dose of medicine. I had begun to think that I had the cholera, but that convinced me that I hadn't it at all."

R. T. Coverdale, Esq., an energetic business man of Cincinnati, is here to aid in the construction of the new gas works, which will be in operation by the first of December.

A funny fracas occurred of Jefferson street yesterday. A strong minded lady seemed to have found her husband going into company that she didn't like, and purely for his good she beat him a little, and then made him go home with her.

Many a man is arrested for sins of commission, but it is not often that men are arrested for sins of omission. Such, however, was the fate of John Patch, yesterday. He was arrested because he did not attempt to catch a thief who was escaping from a house on Washington street.

The musical entertainment gotten up by our liberty loving German citizens for the benefit of the poet Prellinfrath, will come off on next Wednesday evening, in the room of the German Society.

The officers were yesterday after two white men who volunteered to make a medical examination of a negro at the corner of Second and Jefferson streets, and then compelled him to surrender seventy-five cents at their feet.

The raffle for land in Western Arkansas has not yet come off, but will do so, shortly. The land is put up by an old member of the press gang, and is valuable.

A day or two since Thos. R. Smith, Esq., M. R. Hill, Esq., and Wm. M. Randolph, Esq., presented a bill for one thousand dollars to the County Commissioners for opposing the Magistrates in the Chancery and Supreme court. The County Commissioners paid them five hundred dollars each.

Two negroes exhibited yesterday in a store on Jefferson street a diamond ring worth at least two hundred dollars. They said they had bought it for twenty dollars. A stupid policeman was present, but didn't think he could do anything, as he didn't know "what man it was stolen from." If he had known his business it is possible that trace might have been obtained of some big robbery.

A very little while ago the County Commissioners refused to furnish the Clerk of the Circuit Court with blanks, although he offered to pay half the expense. They were determined to be strictly economical. They would make clerks find their own blanks or write them. This was their theory. A day or two since they paid the Radical organ $24 50, under sentence that blanks were wanted by the Radical so-called Clerk of the Municipal Court.

It is supposed that leaving the hot and dusty city, spending Sunday in the rural, inspiriting woods, and drinking the mineral springs water may have a most excellent effect on the public health, and therefore a grand excursion on the Memphis and Ohio railroad is to come off to-morrow. The train will leave Wells Station at 1:30 p.m. and arrive at Raleigh Station will be capacious and comfortable benthouses to convey excursionists to Raleigh Springs. The expense will be trifling, and it is presumed that many will avail themselves of the chance.

Handsome lawns 15 cents, Menken Bros'.

A Thing Much Needed.

We are much pleased to see that parties at the mineral springs at Raleigh have made arrangements so that the Memphis and other parties concerned can have two trains on Sunday, July 14, 1867, to and from the Raleigh Springs. This is as it should be. The citizens of Memphis ought to have some place to spend the day in peace and quietness. The vicinity of the Raleigh Springs is such that it requires only a passing notice from us to insure a big crowd at the excursion. Fair to bad from Wells' but one dollar.

CHANCERY COURT met pursuant to adjournment for the purpose of signing the minutes and closing the term. Owing to the number of orders and decrees handed in, the minutes will not be signed until Monday, July 15th. All orders and decrees in course of preparation by solicitors must be handed in to the clerk by this evening, otherwise they will not appear on the record of this term. The following orders and decrees were presented:

FRIDAY'S NIGHT DISPATCHES.

Facts and Fancies from Washington.

Proposition to Inquire into the Treatment of Confederate Prisoners Rejected in the House.

Confirmation of the Trial of Surratt.

Negro Highwaymen near Fort Monroe.

A United States Vessel Refuses to Salute an English Steamer.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—In the Senate, Sumner offered several amendments to the Reconstruction act, all whereof were declared out of order. He proposed in his amendments to establish schools in the South, free to all, regardless of color; also, no discrimination in race or color in appointments of postmasters, stating that there was not a single colored postmaster in Virginia; and repeated what he said in a written speech, that it would be the duty of the Senate in a few months to welcome colored Senators on the floor.

The amendments to the fifth section agreed to are that in every case of refusal by the boards to register an applicant, and every case wherein they shall strike a name from the list, the board shall make memorandum thereof, setting forth their reasons for such action, and send the same to the districts commander.

An amendment was agreed to, extending the time for revision of registration from three to five days.

In the House, Messrs. Hubbard and Barnum, of Connecticut, appeared and took the oath.

A long discussion took place as to the time the Impeachment Committee should report. It was finally agreed that the Committee have authority to have printed the usual number of copies of the testimony, in time to be placed on the desks of the respective members on the first day of the next session.

Mr. Munyer asked leave to offer a resolution, wherein it was proposed to instruct the committee on treatment of Union prisoners to inquire also as to the treatment of Confederate prisoners in the camps and prisons of the United States, and why the cartel was discontinued. Objected to.

In the Surratt trial three witnesses testified that Wm. Cleaver, prosecuting witness, did not believed under oath.

Mrs. Lambert testified that she was at her house, on Washington street, between Fourth and Fifth, on the night of the assassination; heard voices shouting out that the President was shot; opened the window and asked the parties what the matter was. Heard that the President was shot, and that the J. W. Booth shot him; asked them if they saw it; they were about ten feet from the theater at the time; four soldiers stepped forward, when I spoke to them and said we were going to Camp Barry; it was dark and damp that night. The above evidence directly contradicts that of Dye, who swore it was Mrs. Surratt he was addressing.

The statement that the steamer Susquehanna was going to Mexico to demand the body of Santa Anna, dead or alive, is unfounded. She is merely going on a cruise.

FORTRESS MONROE, July 12.—Numerous murders and robberies by negroes in the vicinity of Norfolk, Va., by negro highwaymen, are reported.

MONTREAL, July 12.—The United States steamer Huron, being detained here for refusing to salute the British fleet at Kingston, Toronto and Belleville.

A SPEECH FROM EX-GOVERNOR WELLER, OF CALIFORNIA.

His Views of Maximilian's Execution.

He Goes for Taking Mexico.

At a Fourth of July dinner at the St. Charles Hotel, New Orleans, Ex-Governor Weller, of California, who now resides in that city, responded to one of the regular toasts. We extract from his speech the following:

No event of a public character has occurred for many years, except the assassination of the late President of the United States, which has produced such a painful impression upon my mind as the recent cold blooded and cowardly murder of Maximilian in the Republic of Mexico. My sympathies have been excited, not because he was of the house of Hapsburg and connected by blood or marriage with the principal crowned heads of Europe, but because he was a most excellent and worthy gentleman, occupying a position which entitled him, under the law of nations, to all the rights and privileges of a prisoner of war. He believed from the representations of prominent citizens of Mexico, that, that country, after nearly half a century of war, was willing to accept an Empire in order to obtain a stable government which would give protection to the people.

Assured of the national support of the French Emperor, he accepted the invitation of these men, and for four years gave his unflagging energy and high talents to the restoration of order and to secure the blessings of peace. If he had understood the true character of the Mexican people, he would have seen at once that this was impossible. The inhabitants present men were born in revolutions, nursed in civil wars, and educated amidst scenes of violence and of murder. Hence, it is not surprising that he was betrayed by one of his Mexican leaders, and delivered into the hands of his enemies.

Maximilian had been recognized as the head of the Mexican Government by the principal powers of Europe, and in his efforts to suppress the rebellion against his Government, was chiefly entitled to be treated as a prisoner of war. Instead of this, he is stripped naked and most inhumanly slaughtered. The representative of the illustrious brother, the Emperor of Austria, begs for his body, that it may be sent to his home and his kindred in his native country, and this is refused! And this is Mexico, Republican Mexico, in the middle of the nineteenth century! Maximilian fell the victim of French duplicity and Mexican treachery and barbarity.

Being a private citizen, and having no connection whatever with public affairs, it is no part of my business to express an opinion as to the best form of Government for Mexico, but this much I will say, that a wise statesman will always adapt his form to the character, intelligence, disposition and habits of his people, and that the present population of that country cannot maintain a Republican Government. Such a Government requires the highest degree of patriotism, of integrity and intelligence. Among the masses of the people, Mexico is sadly deficient in all. I confess, however, that I am somewhat inclined to the opinion of the poet, who said:

"For forms of government, let fools contest,
That which is best administered is best."

Mexico has existed nominally as a Republic for nearly half a century, although all the time divided and distracted by intestine factions and civil wars, giving, in the meanwhile, no protection whatever to person or property. To-day a fierce, wild and ungovernable democracy—to-morrow an absolute military despotism. To-day a President is peaceably and quietly elected, with all the forms of law—to-morrow he is displaced by a military usurper and driven into exile. To-day the constitution is omnipotent—to-morrow the edicts and pronunciamentos of a chieftain are the supreme laws of the land. In the meantime her fertile agricultural and mineral resources remain undeveloped, her people impoverished and oppressed, and our frontier often disturbed by the clangor of arms.

In view of the barbarous execution of Maximilian, contrary to the laws of civilized warfare and in defiance of our earnest remonstrance, and in view of the insult offered to our flag in the forcible seizure of Santa Anna, and in view of the declaration of the infamous blood thirsty tyrant Escobedo, now at the head of the army of Mexico, that "he hoped to see the blood of every foreigner shed before he closed his military career," the time has come, in my opinion, when the American eagle should be stopped in her mad career. She has presumed quite long enough upon her weakness and our magnanimity. If she has not strength enough to maintain a government without resorting to treachery and assassination, and trampling upon the laws of civilized warfare, the United States ought to occupy her territory. If had my own way I would crush out her nationality and proceed at once to administer upon her effects. In this work I would have the sympathies of the civilized world, and the hearty co-operation of the brave and gallant men of the North and South who were but recently arrayed against each other in deadly conflict. In that contest they would vie with each other in deeds of heroism and valor, and come out of it warm and ardent friends as in the olden time. This would do more to heal the wounds which our civil war inflicted, and restore that fraternal feeling which is essential to the perpetuity of the Union than a quarter of a century of peace. For the second time we would "revel in the halls of Montezuma," and plant our glorious banner there to remain forever.

Allow me, in conclusion, to propose a sentiment—

"The Union." Re-established upon principles of Justice and the equality of the States, with a foundation broad and deep in the affections of the people, it is destined to cover the Continent of America.

"No pent up Utica confines our powers,
The boundless continent is ours."

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE,
SATURDAY, July 13, 1867.

The financial market yesterday was quiet and steady, with no change worthy of not. The dispatch market ruled close, with the rates of interest firm and unchanged. First class approved paper sold at 10@12 per cent; commercial at 15@18 per cent; other rates ranged from 2@3 per cent. a month.

GOLD.—In New York was steady at 139¼. The market here was quiet, with the premium rates at 137@137½.

SILVER.—Firm and steady; buying at 128@130.

EXCHANGE.—Was steady, buying at ¼ cent off, and selling at ¼ cent premium.

CITY SCRIP.—Firm and in fair demand. Brokers were buying at 66@67, and selling at 69@70.

FOREIGN SCRIP.—Dull and quiet; buying at 65c and selling at 66@70c.

COUNTY SCRIP.—Continues steady, buying at 80@82c, and selling at 85@86c.

TENNESSEE MONEY.—Is quiet, with only light transactions. Bank of Tennessee, old issue, 33c; bank of West Tennessee, 48c; bank of Middle Tennessee, 95c; City Bank, 60c; Merchant's Bank, 95c; Northern Bank, 95c; Ocoee Bank, 60c; Planters' Bank, 98c; Union Bank, 98c; Shelbyville Bank, 80c; Southern Bank, 20c; Traders' Bank, 95c; bank of Chattanooga, 80c.

NATIONAL BANKS.—The St. Louis Democrat speaks of the National Banks as follows: More National Bank frauds are reported in Boston. However necessary the bank system may have been when it was destroyed during the war, it cannot be denied that many of the evils which its opponents then predicted have been realized. It does flood the country with currency; it does shift the burden of taxation from the capitalist and banker to the producer and laborer; and it does lead to fraud and stimulate reckless speculation. However necessary once, it is now not only unnecessary, but of great hatsomic, and yet it seems exceedingly difficult to devise a way of getting rid of it. When questions of tariff and currency begin to engage public attention, the people will demand some change in this matter, and will put the demand in such shape that no party can afford to ignore it.

It is now reported from Liverpool that the bankrupt estate of Fraser, Trenholm & Co. will wind up badly. The creditors holding their acceptances without the security of the cotton shipped, which they were supposed to have been drawn, will scarcely receive 40 cents on the dollar of their claims, which amount to $2,500,000 against the Liverpool house. The secured claims are stated at $3,535,000.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

At the wonderful revelations made by the great Astrologer,

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

SHE reveals secrets to mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, etc., are unhappy. She causes the absent to return together those separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, tells you the name of the future husband or wife, and the exact time of marriage, tells the trade your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we are to learn our destiny and if entire satisfaction is not given in every instance, the money will be cheerfully refunded. Every one will be supplied with the best like book or album, comparing favorably with the best books in the country.

Persons desirous of obtaining further information will address MADAME H. A. PERRIGO, MEDICAL.

FRENCH MEDICINES

PREPARED BY

GRIMAULT & CO.

Chemists to H. I. H. Prince Napoleon,

PARIS.

THESE different medicines reprise it the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of organic and therapeutics. They must not be confounded with secret remedies, because their nature and composition is known to the profession; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the faculty in the most honorable manner. They widely differ from those numerous medicines advertised in the public papers as either infallible or miraculous, for they are applicable only to but a very few complaints. The most serious and very difficult to treat in France is that of the sale of medical preparations, and only those which have undergone an examination by the Academy of Medicine, and have been proved efficacious, can be authorized by the government. This fact must be a guarantee for the confidence placed in GRIMAULT & CO.'S medicines.
